FROM THE EDITOR

Dear Shoppers,

There is a certain kind of magic in the air this time of the year. The lights glow brighter, the nights turn cooler, and your calendar begins to fill up with weddings, card parties, and festive soirées. It is a season of celebration—and getting dressed for it is half the fun.

Welcome to the 'Festive Edit' of DLF Malls TREND, your ultimate style playbook for the season of shimmer and celebration. Whether you are getting married this year, attending Diwali parties or simply looking for a bit of sparkle, our latest issue is curated and presented to inspire every moment.

At the heart of this edition is our radiant cover star, Ananya Panday, dressed in a stunning ensemble by Aurelia—effortless, elegant, and full of festive energy. In an exclusive conversation, Ananya shares inside stories of her go-to festive favourites, her style mantra, and what celebrations mean to her.

This season, we are treating beauty like a ritual, from fragrant bath and body hampers that double as gifts to the season's must-have lipsticks—our beauty section is your festive glow-up guide. And once the chaos settles, treat yourself to a reset, with the expert-approved tips.

No celebration is complete without fashion taking centre stage. From our favourite Bollywood stars serving couture inspiration to exclusive fashion edits for men and women—there is something for every festive mood. Also, do not miss our accessories edit that includes everything from glittering brooches and pocket squares to embellished bags and hair accessories—all designed to make a statement. And if you are looking to gift beyond the obvious, our curated wishlist features thoughtful, luxe finds perfect for the season of giving.

But in India, no festival is truly complete without indulgence—whether on a plate or in a box! Sweets are considered an essential part of any celebration, symbolising prosperity and the promise of sweetness ahead. For those craving something with a modern twist, we bring you a fresh take on traditional Indian desserts with Sid Mathur of Khoya Mithai, as he offers a deep dive into nostalgic favourites, thoughtfully reimaged for today's palate.

From fashion to food, beauty to indulgent gifting, DLF Malls has your entire festive calendar sorted. Here's to a season of style, sparkle, and making memories.

Wishing you a Diwali filled with love, laughter, and a whole lot of shimmer.

SEAL IT WITH A SWIPE

From velvety maroons to rich berries and everyday nudes, here is our curated guide to the most luxurious lipsticks you can find at DLF Malls that will see you through the wedding season.

When the festivities call, your lips should do the talking—quite literally. Think bold cherry reds with a hint of shimmer, flattering nudes or deep maroons that pair beautifully with your heirloom saris and contemporary lehengas. In a season where your calendar is packed with soirées, sangeets, and Diwali parties, a statement lipstick is your ultimate beauty wingwoman. And let's be honest—there is nothing like pulling out a sleek, gold-cased lipstick from your evening clutch for a quick touch-up.

But it is not just about the colour. You want a formula that feels as smooth as silk, one that glides on effortlessly, nourishes, and delivers rich pigment in a single swipe. With that in mind, we have put together an exclusive edit of the best lipsticks across DLF Malls. Indulge! ▲

This Diwali, upgrade from plain nails to chrome, velvet finish, glitter, and glossy red nails!

Every festive season comes with its own style rituals, but this year, there is one tiny detail stealing the spotlight: nails. Perfectly manicured nails have become an essential finishing touch to any look. From timeless French tips and soft pastels to playful graphic designs, pretty nails have a way of instantly lifting your mood.

This Diwali 2025, it is time to switch to the festive sparkle. Chrome nails are officially making a comeback—think metallic, mirror-like finishes in gold, rose gold or silver, shades that once felt outdated but now look futuristic and glam. For those leaning into the season’s cosy vibe, velvet-finish nails are trending big, adding a plush, luxe touch that feels as indulgent as it looks. And if drama is what you are after, nothing beats the classics—glossy red or cherry tones, French tips with a twist, and a hint of gold or glitter that is guaranteed to steal the spotlight.

“This festive season, expect nails to dazzle in elegance with jewel tones, rich emeralds, molten chrome, velvet gloss, gold foils, and luminous shimmer,” says Sylvia Liu, Education Director, Tweak Salon. “A hint of glitter keeps nails effortlessly chic, never flashy. Almond and oval nails are leading the trend, elongating elegance and perfect for showcasing festive chrome, foils, and embellishments. Squoval tips offer a chic base for subtle accents and modern French designs,” the expert further explains.

For those who prefer minimalism, Liu suggests, “A creamy nude base with a whisper of shimmer at the tip or a solitary gem—a refined yet strikingly festive look.” ▲

PRO TIPS TO MAKE YOUR FESTIVE NAIL ART
LAST ALL SEASON:

- Think of your base coat as skincare for your nails—it is the secret to a chip-free, polished finish that actually lasts.
- Do not skip on top coat touch-ups every few days. It is a two-minute refresh that keeps your mani looking brand new.
- Use gloves while doing chores. They are your festive-season armour for flawless nails!
- Keep that salon-fresh glow going by moisturising your hands and cuticles daily (your nails will thank you).
- Add a light top coat refresh every few days to lock in the shine and protect your design.

FROM CALL ME BAE
TO DESI QUEEN
ANANYA
IN FESTIVE MOODS

From the soft shimmer of a Banarasi sharara set made for celebrations to bold floral prints perfect for late-night card parties, Aurelia's festive drop brings something special for every moment this Diwali.

The festive season is here, and Ananya Panday is at the centre of it all, turning heads with her effortless style. Known for her OTT character Bae in Call Me Bae and recently named Chanel's new ambassador, she has quickly become a fashion star. From pearl-studded gowns on the red carpet to flowing maxis, wide-legged pants, and even casual athleisure, she carries every look with ease.

But no matter how global her style becomes, Indian wear remains her favourite. For both festive and casual outings, she is often seen in saris, lehengas, and simple kurtas that feel both stylish and comfortable. "For me, fashion is all about feeling good and owning your style. My personal style is fun, easy, and versatile," added Ananya.

Her unapologetic love for saris is clear, but so is her deep-rooted fondness for corsets, lehengas, and breezy kurtis on a bright summer day. Her off-screen wardrobe often gives traditional looks a contemporary spin—sometimes eclectic, sometimes simple. Prioritising wearability and comfort, she frequently swaps a dupatta for a chic cape or replaces a blouse with a figure-accentuating corset, and we are here for it.

Just in time for the festive season, she becomes the face of Aurelia's #HameshaTrending festive campaign. Speaking about the collaboration, she shared, "I love how the brand makes ethnic wear feel fresh, vibrant, and always on-trend, and the #HameshaTrending campaign captures that energy beautifully. I am truly excited to be the face of a brand that makes staying stylish feel so effortless and fun!"

From the delicate shimmer of a Blush Banarasi Jacquard Sharara Set perfect for a Diwali puja to bold floral prints that bring brightness to festive gatherings, every piece in the collection tells a story. A vibrant red crop top and skirt set, paired with traditional jewellery and embellished sandals, transforms any celebration into a style statement. Rich jewel tones, intricate embellishments, kurta sets, festive shararas, fusion co-ords, and statement ensembles offer a palette that reflects the modern Indian woman's festive spirit—confident, playful, and unapologetically stylish.

Ideal for a fuss-free puja at home, a cards party with friends, or even a haldi ceremony, the beauty of this new collection lies in its versatile nature. You can dress it up or tone it down with ease. The red lehenga, when styled with a statement gold bag and a choker set with matching earrings, looks glamorous in minutes. The yellow anarkali suit is perfect for a haldi and only needs chandbais to make it dressy (it can even transition seamlessly to the boardroom!) The sharara, with its contrasting colours, is for days when you want something more playful. Pair it with Swarovski heels, bangles, and earrings, and voilà you are ready! The best part? Post-festivities, many of these outfits can be re-worn on a summer day to work. Now is that not double the fun? ▲

YOUR NEW GO-TO HANGOUT IS HERE

From brunches to blowouts, grocery runs to selfcare, DLF Midtown Plaza will be your new favourite routine.

For a long time, South Delhi has been the go-to place for fashion, food, and weekend plans. But let's be honest, with the endless traffic, crowded cafés, and a sense of been-there-done-that, something new was needed. That is where West Delhi's new neighbourhood destination, DLF Midtown Plaza, comes in.

But this is not just your average 'mall,' it is a destination that brings all you can imagine under one roof. The two-acre open-air space is inspired by international outlet concepts and offers shopping, dining, relaxation, and even grocery runs, all within a relaxed, easygoing atmosphere. It is thoughtfully designed, full of energy, and provides a refreshing change from the chaos of the city.

For those who love to shop, you will find cult-favourite beauty brands like Nykaa, Mamaearth, and Forest Essentials, wardrobe staples from Lakshita, Mulmul, Mustard, and standout accessories from Amama Jewels and Estelle. If you are looking to refresh your home, Pure Home + Living, Home Stop, Nicobar, and The Sleep Co. offer plenty of inspiration. Planning a trip? Travel in style with high-quality, fashionable bags from Mokobara, Delsey, and VIP or get your favourite travel gadget and accessories from Reliance Digital Tech Experience Store. For perfectly tailored outfits, studios like Bombay Shirt Company and MTM by Raymond can help sharpen your style.

When you are ready to unwind with friends or family, you can catch a movie at the brand-new PVR Sapphire, the first of its kind in this part of town. If you have little ones, they will enjoy the exclusive kids' zone, Hangout, while you enjoy some peaceful coffee time. And when it is time to tick things off your to-do list, Midtown Plaza also offers convenience with your favourite supermarkets like Go Fresh, and Modern Bazaar, making it easy to stock up on groceries in just one trip.

But...the fun does not stop there! If you wish to pamper yourself, Midtown Plaza offers a variety of options for cheat meals and relaxation. Start your day with coffee from Blue Tokai, Third Wave Coffee or Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf, catch up over dosas and South Indian curries at Dakshin Canteen, indulge in bold Indian flavours at Anardana and In The Punjab, or satisfy your quick cravings at Keventers, KFC, Theo's, Chaayos, and Aku's Burger. After enjoying your meal, why not treat yourself to some R&R at a salon? Whether you go for a haircut, a skincare treatment, a mani-pedi, or a fabulous blowout, you cannot go wrong, and Looks Salon, Toni & Guy and Geetanjali are fantastic options to consider.

It is the kind of place where entertainment, everyday errands, and a little "me time" all come together seamlessly. ▲

BE SHAADI READY

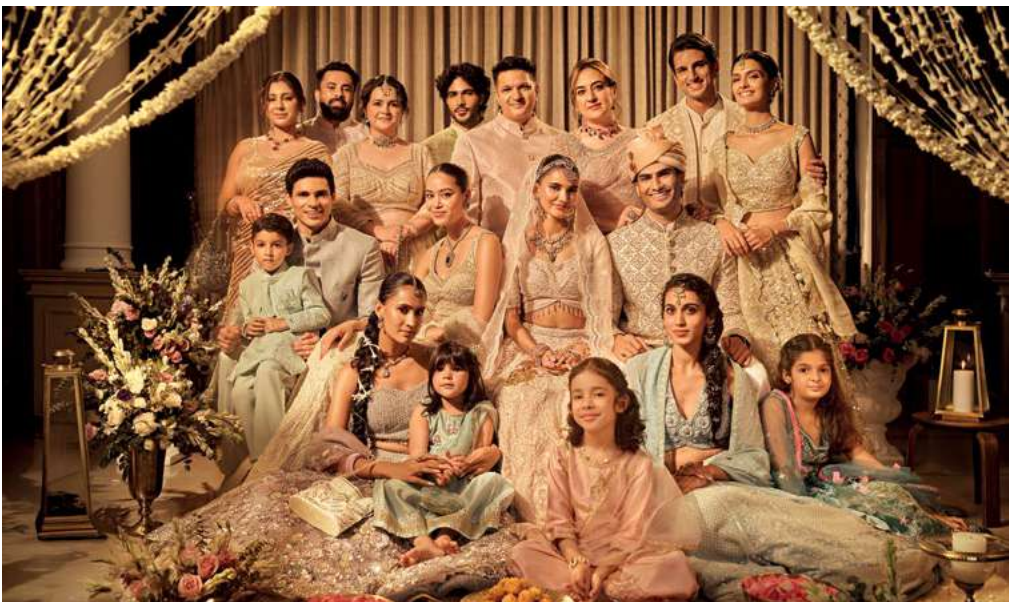

Getting married or attending one soon? Find all your wedding inspiration at the 6th edition of The Wedding Tales at DLF Mall of India.

Just in time for the wedding season, DLF Mall of India unveils the 6th edition of The Wedding Tales, transforming the mall into a dreamy wedding wonderland. Featuring 100+ top brands, the event offered everything from bridal trousseau, men's couture, jewellery, accessories, and beauty must-haves to gourmet delights and gifting options—making it a one-stop celebration of all things shaadi.

From Meena Bazaar, Frontier Raas, and Taneira's timeless ethnic wear to contemporary occasion looks by CHIQUE and Global Desi, brides and bridesmaids had endless choices. Grooms too found regal sherwanis at Manyavar and Mohanlal Sons or modern formals at Allen Solly. Luxe accessories by Just Cavalli, Hidesign, Caratlane, and Diamond Tree completed the looks.

The experience went beyond shopping—shoppers joined trousseau and bridal makeup masterclasses, enjoyed festive activities, live entertainment, and curated hospitality. Lucky top spenders even won luxury staycations.

Whether bride, groom, family, or a guest, The Wedding Tales ensured everyone was truly #BeShaadiReady. ▲

CELEB STYLE

MODERN SILHOUETTES, TRADITIONAL ROOTS

This season, modern couture is taking centre stage, yet our traditional roots remain ever present.

It seems like couture is getting a contemporary upgrade this year. Some stars are opting for heirloom pieces reimagined in new styles, while others are putting a modern twist to the classic six-yard drape with power shoulder blouses and co-ord sets that show no signs of fading. Nevertheless, B-towns celebs are still giving Indian couture and designers a nod.

If you are hunting for style inspiration that is chic yet rooted, take cues from your favourite celebrities. From lightweight printed lehengas to repurposed heirloom saris and fuss-free pre-draped styles, this season's trends tick all the boxes. And when in doubt, shimmer wins—sequins, crystals, and Swarovski shine bright.

MODERN MAHARAJAS AND MAHARANIS

Indian Couture is getting more modern and refreshing day after day. What started as wearing jackets with saris, soon evolved into jackets with lehengas, corset saris, and creative plays on drapes. For the younger generation, it is all about fusing heritage with ease. Peplums are making a stylish comeback for women, while men, too, are embracing a more experimental, fashion-forward approach.

THE RETURN OF MAROON
Deep, rich maroons are making a strong comeback this season. The jewel-toned hue is perfect for the cooler months, adding a regal touch to everything from velvet and raw silk to satin and flowy georgette. For men, maroon kurtas, Nehru jackets, and bandhgals are timeless winners. ▲

HERITAGE REIMAGINED

Couture is entering a new era where tradition feels lighter and easier to wear yet not compromising with heritage. Designers are reworking fabrics into fuss-free ensembles made for dancing the night away, while stylists are adding flavour and flair. From saris with corsets or bikini blouses to lighter pants with men's kurtas, modern silhouettes keep heritage alive with comfort.

IN VOGUE

REVISITING THE DRAPES

From double dupattas to sleek Scandinavian scarves, retro-inspired patterns, dhoti pants, and pleated kurtas for men—drapes are being reimagined in the most exciting ways this season.

This festive season, fashion is all about reinventing the classics—especially drapes. For centuries, draping has been an integral part of Indian culture, from dhotis and lungis to saris. Their beauty lies in their ability to let you move with ease while still looking stylish.

WOMEN: Over the years, the traditional drape has seen endless reinterpretations, and this year, it is all about sculpted structures and fluid layers. Designer Gazal Gupta highlights the sculpted sari drape, defined by sharp pleats and pre-stitched pallus that create an architectural silhouette, perfect for cocktail evenings. Equally chic is the cape-and-sari fusion, where sheer or embroidered capes replace the pallu, adding drama without fuss. For brides, the double dupatta lehenga drape continues to reign supreme, now refreshed with scalloped trims, organza layers, or contrasting colours. The belted drape is another favourite; it cinches the waist, adds ease of movement, making it perfect for sangeets and mehndis. For a touch of Western bridal flair, shoulder veils with trails make Indian ensembles feel ethereal, ideal for receptions or pheras.

Gupta believes that blouses also play a pivotal role in elevating these drapes. Think corset blouses with sweetheart necklines for sculpted saris, high-neck embroidered styles to pair with shoulder veils, and cape-sleeve blouses that make monotone saris look grand. For lehengas with double dupattas, plunging necklines strike the perfect balance, while boat necks with embellished sleeves keep belted styles timeless. And for those who like to experiment, TikTok's viral Scandinavian scarf drape has become a trend to watch.

MEN: In men's fashion, drapes are no longer an afterthought, they are quickly becoming a defining style statement. Designers are revisiting the dhoti, with versions ranging from sharply tailored to fluid, couture-inspired interpretations. "Draping in menswear has evolved into a strong design statement," shares Gupta. "Asymmetrical drapes, pre-stitched angarakhas, layered shawl drapes, and draped bandhgalas are incredibly popular right now." These styles mix fluidity with a masculine edge, making them versatile for weddings and formal gatherings.

Beyond the dhoti, festive wardrobes are seeing innovations in tapered cowl pants, stylized salwars, and wide-leg trousers paired with draped kurtas or bandhgalas. Asymmetrical hemlines, layered pleats, and Angrakha-style crossovers add texture and movement, while structured bandhgalas are being paired with draped stoles, creating a seamless blend of tradition and modernity. ▲

DRAPES FOR BRIDES

Modern Minimalist Bride: A silk saree with a clean, pre-draped pallu over a structured corset blouse. Minimal jewellery, bold makeup.
The Regal Bride: Double dupatta lehenga, one tissue dupatta over the head, one organza with fine zari work draped Gujarati-style across the front.

The Boho Bride: An asymmetric sari drape worn over flared pants or a skirt paired with a fringed blouse or jacket.

DRAPES FOR GROOMS

For men, layer a fluidly draped stole over a structured sherwani either over one shoulder or wrapped across the torso like a modern-day warrior. Another option is a draped angarakha with tonal embroidery, paired with tailored trousers or a dhoti.

For festive occasions, I suggest playing with textures and layering, maybe a cowl neck kurta with a brocade bandi or a pre-draped kurta styled with a printed stole. It is about balance, letting one element be the hero while keeping the rest minimal.

YOUR FESTIVE SOLE-MATE

From wedge heels to flatforms and even heeled sneakers, comfortable footwear is finally stepping into the spotlight—and trust us, your feet will thank you.

You have spent hours getting dressed, your outfit is on point, your makeup is flawless, and you have stepped out looking like a million bucks. But there is one thing that can instantly ruin the mood—your aching feet. That dreaded moment mid-event when you are tempted to kick off your heels and slide into the nearest pair of rubber chappals? We have all been there. This season, it is time to switch your high heels and stilettos with something that is stylish yet comfortable. After all, why should looking fabulous mean suffering through blisters and pinched toes? Think beautifully embellished juttis that add charm without hurting your feet. Or platform sneakers with a touch of sparkle that pair perfectly with a lehenga—yes, you read that right. And do not miss out on Kolhapuris, which are having a major fashion moment after being spotted on the Prada runway. Gentlemen, it is time to let go of the stiff, uncomfortable juttis. Choose soft leather loafers, easy slip-on mules, or cushioned Kolhapuris that feel as good as they look. Comfort should never mean boring, and now it does not have to. Head to DLF Malls to shop because, your perfect pair awaits. ▲

PRESENT
PERFECT

A thoughtfully chosen gift always brings happiness to both the giver and receiver. Here is a splendid selection for this joyful season.

Diwali is the season of gifting. From corporate clients to dear ones and close friends to near neighbours, there is something thrilling about choosing the right present that will bring forth an exclamation and a whole lot of joy. One way to ensure you have made the right decision is to study the person's lifestyle and give them something that will either complement or elevate it. Add a touch of luxury to everyday essentials or surprise the intended recipient with something unexpected yet satisfying. These days, with a wealth of choices, it is essential and exciting to find the right gift. Happy hunting! ▲

BRING HOME THE GLOW OF DIWALI

The festive season is the perfect excuse to refresh and uplift your living space, and here is our edit!

Every year, the festive season arrives with its own sense of magic—it is not just about the clothes we wear or the feasts we share, but also about how our homes look and feel. After all, our homes are where the heart of every celebration lies. This is the time to declutter, refresh, and give your living space the makeover it deserves, one that reflects both tradition and your personal style. Décor, today, celebrates innovation while staying anchored in cultural tradition. “Our homeware collections are crafted with the same care as our clothing—rooted in tradition, yet designed to evolve with our patrons,” shares Oona Singh, co-founder and Director, Suvasa.

Hence, start with the little things that bring warmth and joy—silver and brass diyas flickering in every corner, handcrafted deity figurines placed with care or candles glowing in elegant holders. When it comes to colours, think bold and celebratory—deep reds, burnt oranges, and mustard tones that instantly add warmth. Pair them with woven textiles and traditional motifs to give your home a timeless yet festive touch. Finally, let nature weave itself into your celebrations with fresh flowers and greens. Consider an urn filled with mogra and rose petals at the entrance, or a vase of bright marigolds on the dining table, which instantly lifts the festive spirit. You may also play with layering, this year,—textiles, textures, and little handcrafted details. ▲

WHAT ARE THE KEY HOME DÉCOR TRENDS FOR THE SEASON?

We believe festive décor should feel warm, lived-in, and timeless. This season, we are inspired by the colours of autumn—deep marigold, rich terracotta, and earthy indigo—brought alive through hand block prints and natural textures. Each piece is functional yet beautiful, from table linens that anchor festive gatherings to soft furnishings that add quiet elegance. We focus on simplicity, tactility, and heritage—design that celebrates togetherness while letting your home breathe with understated charm.

MITHAI 2.0

THE SWEET REVOLUTION

Tradition gets a delectable twist in this new era of reimagined mithais

Once a staple of gatherings and celebrations, mithai is now getting a delicious, modern makeover. No longer confined to traditional trays and predictable flavours, today's Indian sweets are stepping into the spotlight—infused with creativity, wrapped in elegance, and crafted for a new-age palate. "Today's audience craves familiarity with a touch of novelty, which is why we experiment with flavours like White Chocolate Aam Papad Barfi, Matcha Rasmalai, or Coffee-Infused Mithai. Even classics like kaju katli are being reimagined with delicate rose notes or finished with edible paint art," adds Sid Mathur, founder of KHOYA Mithai. Yet, even with its stylish new twist, mithai continues to carry the warmth of tradition and the joy of shared celebration. This festive season, whether you are gifting or indulging, let mithai surprise you—not just with its sweetness, but with its bold, beautiful new avatar. ▲

TREND TALK

Sid Mathur
Founder, KHOYA Mithai

"Mithai evolving, with modern twists, is not only inevitable, but also essential. Food, like culture, must adapt to stay relevant. Whether it is reimagined flavours, minimalist packaging, or bite-sized formats for easier sharing, these changes reflect how people live, gift, and celebrate today. We see mithai as a living tradition—rooted in heritage, yet constantly evolving with the times. These innovations are not about changing mithai, but expanding its language—so that it continues to feel relevant, exciting, and deeply personal."
