FROM THE EDITOR

Dear Shoppers,

Gen Z is rewriting the rules of style, beauty, and self-expression—and in this issue of DLF Malls TREND, we are putting the spotlight on them. If millennials questioned norms, Gen Z is here to completely redesign them. From skincare serums to smoothie bowls and gender-fluid fashion to fuss-free footwear, Gen Z's influence is redefining what is aspirational.

And who better to represent this vibe than our cover star, Rasha Thadani? She is not just stylish but a mirror of Gen Z's fearless, standout spirit. Think iconic energy, effortless chic, and that fearless Gen Z spark. In head-to-toe Marks & Spencer denim, Rasha gives major main character energy, proving that style is not just about what you wear, but how you wear it. This issue is a celebration of that vibrant, fresh energy. We are talking skincare that is on point, beauty rituals that are getting a clean upgrade, and style that is breaking every rule.

As the rains roll in, we have got your monsoon moodboard covered; think practical meets playful. From stylish waterproof essentials to SPF that finally gets its due, this issue is packed with everything you need to stay fresh, frizz-free, and festive-ready. We have also got expert tips from Dr. Chiranjiv Chhabra on scalp health and the founder of Kama Ayurveda, Vivek Sahni on how Ayurveda is making an impactful comeback in today's fast-paced world.

Where Gen Z shines brightest is in the world of fashion. Our fashion edit takes a deep dive into how this generation is redefining fashion in 2025. We are decoding their styling hacks and accenting gender-inclusive designs.

For those wanting something fresh, do not forget our feature on homegrown labels making noise at DLF Malls. Plus, we did not forget the accessories—festive-ready bags, monsoon-proof sneakers, and all the extras that elevate your look from basic to bold. Plus, mini trendsetters get their moment too with curated kidswear looks that are Insta-worthy.

Living like Gen Z is a lifestyle flex. We are talking yoga fits that look as good as they feel, lamps that double as art pieces (hello, aesthetic interiors!), and food that is edible art. Shivesh Bhatia brings trendy smoothie ideas that are serving both nutrition and likes, while our trip to Commons at DLF Avenue will have you bookmarking your next food crawl.

Finally, do not miss our festive sneak peek as we gear up for the season. Flip ahead for our exclusive preview—from Rakhi glam to Ganesh Chaturthi gifting. Happy reading!

YOUR SKIN'S
NEW OBSESSION

People are going back to Ayurveda for skincare that feels natural, gentle, and made just for them.

Let's be honest, keeping up with the latest in skincare can feel like a full-time job. One minute it is all about slugging, the next it is glass skin and snail mucin. Exhausted yet? We surely are! After the world's obsession with complicated skincare regimes and K-beauty, the beauty industry is going through a change, and we can see the revival of traditional Indian beauty rituals. One such example is the resurgence of Ayurveda which provides a much-needed sense of grounding and authenticity.

An age-old beauty philosophy that has been around for over 5,000 years, what makes Ayurveda truly stand out? It is not a one-size-fits-all, instead Ayurvedic beauty is all about you—your doshas, your lifestyle, the season, your stress levels, even what you had for lunch! It is a system that understands your skin is constantly changing, and your skincare should too. "Rooted in over 5,000 years of Indian wisdom, Ayurveda focuses on long-term balance by understanding the root causes of concerns and addressing them in harmony with the mind, body, and soul," said Kama Ayurveda's founder, Vivek Sahni. "Ayurveda recognises that each individual is unique and guided by their constitution or dosha, as well as lifestyle, diet, stress levels, and even seasonal changes. This thoughtful approach allows beauty rituals to be customised, evolving with your needs and environment."

Let's talk about Kama Ayurveda for a moment; the brand that has become synonymous with luxe Ayurveda, and holistic skincare in India. What began in 2002 with Sahni's rediscovery of ancient healing recipes from Vedic texts, has turned into a modern-day Ayurvedic movement. "Kama Ayurveda has really been a journey of bringing ancient wisdom into modern living. The idea was never to just create products, but to revive a way of life, one that is holistic, mindful, and deeply grounded in Ayurvedic philosophy," Sahni added.

However just like all skincare, "A simple Ayurvedic skincare routine is really about layering nourishment and working in harmony with your skin," he said aptly.

But here is the thing, Ayurveda is all about adapting. Your skin does not stay the same all year, so neither should your routine. "Our skin reacts to weather just like the rest of our body," he notes. "Adapting your skincare accordingly helps maintain balance. In warmer months, when breakouts are common, an Acne Face Pack can work wonders." ▲

TREND TALK

Vivek Sahni
Founder, Kama Ayurveda

"We are witnessing a beautiful revival of Ayurvedic beauty rituals, driven by a growing desire to slow down and embrace more intentional, time-tested practices. Traditional treatments like Abhyanga, the art of self-massage using botanical-rich oils, are being rediscovered not just for their skin benefits but for their calming effect on the mind as well. Ingredients such as Kumkumadi oil, crafted from saffron and powerful herbs, are gaining popularity for their ability to enhance natural radiance. Even in haircare, there is a noticeable shift towards gentle, plant-based formulations that prioritise scalp health and overall wellbeing."

Fuss-free, on-the-go sun protection must-haves—even on cloudy days.

Think sun protection is only for sunny days? Think again. UV rays do not take a break when it is cloudy outside, which is why lightweight, easy-to-use SPF (Sun Protection Factor) solutions, beyond the traditional sunscreen creams or lotions, are a year-round essential. From refreshing face mists and spray sunscreens to gel-based formulas and heavy-duty sunsticks, that will not clog or cake, these no-fuss heroes slip easily into your bag and your routine. Whether you are commuting, brunching out in the sun, or caught in a sudden downpour, staying protected is just a spritz or dab away. Rain or shine, you are fine. ▲

MOISTURE IN. MAYHEM OUT.

Damp days demand deep care—and smarter hair solutions.

Rainy days may bring cool breezes but also unruly hair. As humidity rises, so does the frizz, making nourishing serums, richer shampoos, and hydrating hair masks essential this season. These moisture-boosting formulas help tame texture, define strands, and restore smoothness. But do not stop at the surface—scalp care is the key. "Think of your scalp like the soil your hair grows from—if it is not healthy, your hair will not be either. A clean, balanced scalp helps your hair grow smoother and shinier. Conditioners and masks act like moisturisers, locking in hydration, reducing frizz, and making hair softer and easier to manage," shares dermatologist Dr Chiranjiv Chhabra, founder of Alive Wellness Group. From gentle exfoliating scrubs to balancing serums, expert-approved treatments keep your roots clean, calm, and nourished. The result? Stronger, shinier, more manageable hair no matter the weather. Your monsoon haircare routine starts here—with care that goes deeper. ▲

TREND TALK

DR CHIRANJIV CHHABRA
Founder, Alive Wellness Group

Just like skin, your scalp has its own needs. Oily scalps do well with deep-cleansing shampoos; dry scalps crave gentle, hydrating ones. If your scalp feels itchy or irritated, go for calming, fragrance-free formulas. Adding a scalp serum or exfoliant once a week can help reset and balance things out. Frizz is mainly caused by dryness and damage, so look for products rich in moisture-sealing ingredients like argan oil, ceramides, or glycerin. Curly and thick hair usually need richer masks, while fine hair does well with lighter options that do not weigh it down. Pick what feels right for your texture—and do not skip the hair tips!

SPOTLIGHT

EVERY MOMENT ELEVATED

The newest neighbourhood addition to DLF Phase 5, Summit Plaza is set to become the ultimate destination for retail, dining, and office spaces.

They say good things take time. And for those of us who have lived in DLF Phase 5 long enough, we have waited patiently for that one spot that truly feels like us—elevated yet effortlessly relaxed. I have often found myself driving across town for a brunch that felt just right, or to soak in the creative buzz of places like Khan Market. And each time, I would wonder—why do not we have this vibe here, in our own neighbourhood in Gurugram?

And finally, after years of yearning, Summit Plaza will be the long-awaited answer—a stylish, modern-day nucleus for Golf Course Road; one that brings convenience, culture, and community, all under one beautifully designed roof.

THE EXPERIENCE

Golf Course Road has grown into one of Gurugram's most aspirational areas—home to global professionals, creative minds, and people who value quality. A place like Summit Plaza feels like a natural progression. It is being designed to reflect the pulse of the people who live here—those who seek more than just functionality. Those who want a space that inspires.

Summit Plaza is not trying to be Khan Market—but if you have ever lingered in those places over a long coffee, or stumbled into a boutique that surprises you, you would know the kind of atmosphere I am hoping for. It will be more than a retail space; it is imagined as a cultural hangout. The kind of place that encourages you to slow down, explore, and stay awhile.

WHAT TO EXPECT

Summit Plaza is shaping up to offer a curated mix—global brands, boutique finds, luxury salons, rooftop restaurants, and design-first cafés. It is not your typical cityscape. With open-air terraces, wide walkways, and inviting spaces, it is designed for lingering a little longer, not just ticking off tasks.

Visually, it already stands out—sleek glass architecture, lush landscaping, and balconies that catch the light. The rooftop zone, clean design lines, and walkable layout feel contemporary yet warm. This is where weekday coffee meetings, weekend brunches, and midweek retail therapy seamlessly come together.

THE LOCATION

Nestled along Golf Course Road, Summit Plaza is a convenient choice for DLF Phase 5 residents and beyond. I had grown used to driving all over Delhi for a good shopping or dining experience, but now, all of it would be at my doorstep. Just minutes from DLF Cyber City and with pedestrian-friendly access, it fills the long-standing need-gap in the neighbourhood. For residents, it means no more crossing the city for a decent salon, a designer piece, or a memorable dining experience. The convenience of it just made my heart jump with joy.

A VISION COMING ALIVE

Summit Plaza is more than a destination. It is a promise to the neighbourhood—of what retail, lifestyle, and leisure can look like when they come together with intention. It is not open yet. But when it does, I know exactly where I would be spending my weekends. ▲

YOUR NEW RIDE-OR-DIE

Need help choosing the best footwear for your monsoon mood? Let's splash into it.

Rainy days have a charm of their own, the smell of wet earth, cosy clothes, a hot cup of tea or coffee, and the sound of raindrops tapping against your window. But let's be honest, it also brings puddles, slush, and the daily gamble of stepping into one unprepared. If you have ever had to spend a day in wet socks or clean mud off your favourite sneakers, you know exactly what we mean. That is why, choosing the right footwear during monsoon is an absolute essential.

You need shoes that are waterproof, easy to clean, slip-resistant, and still manage to look cute. From slip-ons and jelly flats to waterproof sandals and rubber sliders, there is a whole world of stylish, no-fuss options that keep your feet dry and your day stress-free. And if you are wondering where to find the best pairs this rainy season, DLF Malls has got you covered. ▲

A JEAN-IUS STYLE WITH RASHA THADANI

This Gen Z's rising star brings her effortlessly cool style to Marks & Spencer's latest denim collection giving it a bold, youthful twist.

Denim has always been a classic. From vintage bell-bottoms to skinny jeans and distressed jackets, it never really goes out of style. But now, Gen Z is stepping in and giving denim a whole new meaning—and we are here for it! For Gen Z, denim is not just about what is trendy. It is about wearing it their way. Whether it is a pleated mini skirt, a fitted denim dress, oversized jeans, or even denim shoes, denim has undergone a major upgrade, and we are looking forward to it. Think pairing baggy jeans with fitted crop tops, a bodycon, or a button-down dress, they do not shy away from trying bold looks, and they mix old-school styles with fresh energy.

Leading the charge is Gen Z's breakout star, Rasha Thadani, who fronts Marks & Spencer's latest denim campaign with effortless ease. Her looks blend sporty, cool, and casual in a way that feels totally relatable. With a fashion sense that strikes the perfect balance between edgy and easygoing, Rasha is proving she is not just riding on her mother, Raveena Tandon's, legacy; instead, she is carving her path.

Fresh off her debut in Azaad, she catches up with DLF Malls TREND for a candid style chat.

What is the one Gen Z trend you are obsessed with?

I cannot get enough of oversized graphic tees.

If your closet had a personality, what would it be?

Definitely chaotic.

What is your go-to "fit check" outfit?

My go-to pick is low-rise jeans paired with a tank top and classic hoops.

If your style was a playlist, what would the title be, and who would the headliner artist be?

I would call it "Soft and Spicy by Tyla."

What is always in your bag, no matter what the outfit or plan is?

I always carry a lip balm, kajal, and a scrunchie.

What is your signature makeup look?

Kohl eyes and brown lips—that is my go-to look.

Are you a beach baby or a mountain soul when it comes to holidays?

I am definitely a beach baby.

If you could teleport to any destination in the world just for a weekend, where would you go?

Ranthambhore—to disconnect and truly take a break.

What is your idea for comfort for a chill day in?

I could watch Friends on repeat mode—and never get bored of it—in pajamas, having daal-chawal. That for me, is true blue comfort.

What is that one song currently in your playlist that instantly lifts your mood?

Desi Girl from the movie, Dostana. ▲

DO

- Opt for breathable, moisture-wicking fabrics such as polyester blends, which draw sweat away from the body
- Wear light-coloured clothing to reflect sunlight and help regulate your body temperature more effectively
- Choose sports bras specifically designed to manage moisture and provide support during high-impact activities.

DON'TS

- Wear cotton for exercise; it tends to absorb and retain moisture, which can lead to chafing and discomfort
- Avoid dark-coloured activewear that absorbs more heat, making your workouts feel more taxing in the summer.

FOR HIM

Gentlemen, it is time to leave those tired old tees behind and level up! Go for light, sweat-resistant T-shirts, comfy stretch shorts, and a sleek, lightweight jacket that you can throw on after your workout. Do not shy away from bold colours because this is the season to embrace them! And trust us, sweat-wicking tees and streamlined shorts should be essential in your fitness wardrobe because staying cool is always in-style. ▲

CELEB STYLE

GEN Z BOLLYWOOD'S NEW STYLE RULES

From crop tops to gender-fluid fashion, the Gen Z celebs of Bollywood are rewriting the fashion rulebook, and it is time we took note.

Gone are the days when Bollywood fashion was all about sequins, bodycon gowns, and picture-perfect poses. Today's Gen Z (referring to anyone born between 1997 and 2015) stars are bringing something completely different to the table—and we are here for it! Think comfort, confidence, and a sprinkle of chaos (the good kind). Let's admit it, we have got to thank the Gen Z for the resurgence of football shirts, low-slung jeans, bandeau tops, adidas Sambas, PUMA Speedcats, ballerinas, coin belts, and much more!

Whether it is Suhana Khan's effortlessly cool off-duty looks, Ananya Panday's love for bold Y2K moments, Shanaya Kapoor's subtle glam, effortlessly cool streetwear snaps of Orry or Alanna Panday's lessons on luxe-boho dressing, the Gen Z celebs are showing us that fashion does not have to be serious. It just has to be you. Here are some of the cues we need to take note of!

COMFORT IS COOL

Say goodbye to pinching heels and uncomfortable dresses. Gen Z stars love relaxed silhouettes, cargo trousers, and trainers that actually feel good on your feet. Most stars often step out in oversized shirts and denim shorts, looking effortlessly stylish. The resurgence of denim is the new "it" thing, with relaxed fits and vintage washes dominating the scene.

MIX BUDGET WITH BOUGIE

You do not need to break the bank to look good, it is all about how you wear it, is Gen Z's motto. You will often spot Khushi Kapoor wearing Zara with Dior, or Alaya F mixing thrift finds with designer bags. Your style is in how you wear it, not where it is from.

BE BOLD

This generation is not shy when it comes to bold choices. Whether it is prints, neons, sparkles, or sequins, they are all in. Ananya Panday's playful approach to colour-blocking is a perfect example. It is bright, fun, and full of personality.

BREAK GENDER RULES

More young stars are embracing gender-fluid looks—think oversized blazers, layered jewellery or makeup on male celebs like Siddhant Chaturvedi. Style has no gender, so express yourself however it feels right.

RE-WEAR AND REPEAT!

If you love something, wear it again. Unlike the red carpet culture of never repeating outfits, Gen Z celebs are repeating clothes, upcycling, and even borrowing from their parents' wardrobes. Yes, they are proving that there is sheer beauty in repeating. ▲

HOURGLASS

This body type features a well-defined waist with bust and hips that are nearly the same width. This naturally balanced shape suits fitted clothing that highlights the waist. Wrap dresses, belts, and tailored silhouettes work especially well.

SHAPE UP YOUR STYLE

Find your fit. Flaunt your body type. Own your look.

Bodies come in all shapes, and every type carries its own beauty and uniqueness. Understanding your shape is not about comparison—it is about embracing your individuality and expressing it with confidence. Great fashion does not hide your body; it highlights your natural silhouette. Choose cuts and styles that enhance your shape and make you feel empowered.

We have got some curated tips up our sleeves to help you find your perfect fit. Because in the end, the best style is the one that feels right on you. ▲

INVERTED TRIANGLE

In this shape, the upper body—shoulders or bust—is broader than the hips. The key is to soften the top and add volume below for balance. Go for wide-leg pants, tiered skirts, and subtle tops.

PEAR (TRIANGLE)

Such bodies have hips that are wider than the shoulders, often with a smaller bust. Emphasising the upper body helps create balance. Structured tops, statement sleeves, and A-line skirts are flattering choices.

Image Courtesy: Ananya Panday/Instagram

RECTANGLE (ATHLETIC)

The rectangle shape has balanced shoulders and hips with a less defined waist, often giving a straight, athletic look. You can create curves through clever tailoring and layering. Peplum tops, belts, and flared skirts work nicely (read smartly).

BREAKING THE BINARY

Gender-fluid clothing labels that your wardrobe needs.

In an inclusive world, the fashion industry has altered its silhouettes. With international runways giving a major nod to androgynous pieces such as tailored suits, oversized shirts, and fluid trousers which blur the distinction between menswear and womenswear, high fashion brands soon caught onto the trend. And now, the trend is easy, breezy functional and oh-so-chic!

Gone are the days of stiff his and hers sections. Today, it is all about embracing what makes you feel bold, beautiful, and unapologetically you. Think blazers from the men's aisle, sequined slip dresses over cargo pants, or oversized shirts worn as dresses, or even dramatic capes if that is your vibe.

DLF Malls is totally in on the trend too. From unisex streetwear that is effortlessly cool to bold accessories that make a statement, gender-free fashion is owning the shelves. Ready to shop? Here is your go-to guide for the best gender-neutral style finds in the malls right now. ▲

Ashray Gujral
Founder, Dash and Dot

"This summer, we are rethinking structure. Gender fluid style is not about dressing neutral—it is about dressing true; think of pieces that go beyond gendered norms: relaxed tailoring, soft fabrics, and versatile cuts. A shirt can double as a jacket, and a co-ord can shift from sharp to slouchy depending on how you choose to wear it. When it comes to summer styling, play with proportions, contrast light with bold, pair delicate with bold. Forget the rule book, because the most memorable looks are born from mixing, reworking, and wearing what feels like you."

YOUR STYLE GUIDE FOR THE SEASON AHEAD

As Rakhi and Ganesh Chaturthi approach, it is time to update your wardrobe. Here is your cheat sheet to looking fabulous all through the festivities.

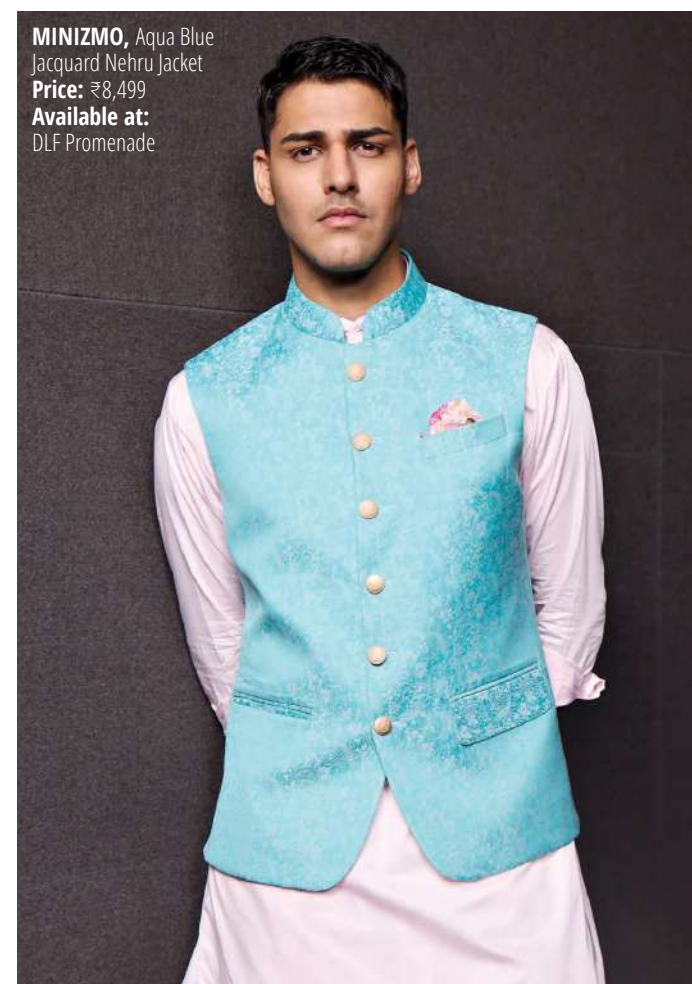

Festive season is almost here, and you know what that means—it is time to dress up, show up, and celebrate in style! Whether it is tying Rakhi, welcoming Ganesh ji or Ganpati Bappa, or dancing your heart out during Navratri, there is something special about this time of the year, and your wardrobe should match the mood. At DLF Malls, the pre-festive buzz is in full swing. From colourful outfits for women—think easy-breezy lehengas, elegant kurtis, and modern saris, to stylish options for men like smart bandhgolas and fun-printed kurtas, there is no dearth of festive fashion. And of course, accessories are the real heroes: jhumkas, potlis, majris, watches, and festive-friendly clutches, that pull it all together. After all, it is all about a striking festive ensemble and upgrading your home look that truly sets the tone and lifts the spirit higher. Whether you are keeping it low-key or going all out, DLF Malls have everything you need to get festive-ready, this season. Curate your perfect pairings, set the right mood for your home, and get ready to turn heads. ▲

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Whether you are after cosy corners or modern minimalism, our edit of top lighting picks will brighten every mood and room.

Rainy days, overcast skies, and those golden summer sunsets—this season is all about creating the perfect vibe indoors. And the easiest way to do that? Lighting that lifts your mood and your space.

Just like our skincare and playlist, lighting should also change with the seasons. Summer works best with cool, airy lights—think white lampshades, ceramic bases, and see-through pendants that let the sunshine pour in. Monsoons are all about creating a cosy vibe. You want that warm, golden-hour glow that goes perfectly with a hot cup of chai and a good book. Try warm-glow table lamps for monsoon mornings, or rattan pendant lights that bring in the easy feel of summer. Choose soft amber lighting, woven textures, and pastel ceramics that feel just right for now. And do not forget adjustable or smart lights—they are perfect for switching from bright and fresh to soft and calming with just a tap.

But, these days, lights are not just for function, they are part of your décor. They float, twist, glow, and even bloom. From sculptural floor lamps to playful wall lights that look like art, the latest lighting collections at DLF Malls prove you can have both beauty and function. If you think a lamp should do more than just light up a room, you will love what is in store. ▲

Aryaman Jain
CEO, Innovative Design Studio

"In summer, go for soft gold, ivory, and champagne tones; they reflect natural light and make a room feel light and fresh. For the monsoons, switch to deeper colours like amber, smoked bronze, or muted jewel tones to add warmth and comfort. Further, opt for glass and Murano crystal, which work well all year. Hand-blown or smoked glass brings texture and mood, while metal touches in brushed gold, matte black, or antique brass give strength and style. Additionally, lighting should change with the season too—airy, open shapes for sunny days and bold, layered designs for monsoon evenings. Adjustable lights like the Sense Lightswing by SAAS Instruments help set the right mood, whether on a bright afternoon or a cosy night."

#FOODGOALS: GEN Z'S MEAL FIX

What all are on Gen Z's plates and palate these days.

With everyone staying active on social media and living in a screen-driven age, trends strongly influence Gen Z's food choices, these days. They are open to experimenting with new ingredients and unique combinations, while also eager to rediscover traditional ones, all keeping health and nutrition at the fore front. "In many ways, social media has become their go-to cookbook, food magazine, and dining guide all in one," shares food blogger, self-taught baker, and author of five cookbooks, Shivesh Bhatia. A perfect Gen Z meal is "a blend of thoughtfully put together meal and, at the same time, a super quick one," he shares and further adds, "They are more aware of the ingredients and want to make informed choices about what is on their plate. Along with that, they also value the presentation and want to make an effort in terms of presentation while cooking for themselves, including their everyday meals."

Here is a handpicked selection of some of our favourite "Gen Z bites", which are sure to excite your taste buds and gut, this season. ▲

Shivesh Bhatia
Food blogger, Baker, and Author

Shivesh taps right into Gen Z's flavour and feed goals: "With matcha being everywhere on the internet currently, this recipe is fresh, fun, Insta-worthy, and super easy to recreate. This smoothie blends tropical mango (hello, nostalgia and summer vibes!) with earthy matcha (the internet's favourite), creating a drink that is not just a flavour bomb but also fits perfectly into the aesthetic, wellness-focused, and time-saving lifestyle that Gen Z loves."

MANGO MATCHA SMOOTHIE

INGREDIENTS

FOR THE MANGO SMOOTHIE

1½ cup frozen mangoes
1 tbsp honey
1/3 cup yoghurt
1 cup milk

FOR THE MATCHA SMOOTHIE

1½ frozen banana
1 tsp honey
1 tsp matcha powder
1/3 cup milk

INSTRUCTIONS

• Prepare for the smoothie a day before by freezing the mangoes and bananas in the freezer overnight

• To make the mango smoothie, add frozen mangoes, honey, yoghurt and milk in a blender and blend until smooth and lump-free. This mixture should be thick
• Similarly, to make the matcha smoothie, add the frozen bananas, honey, matcha powder, and milk in a blender and blend for a smooth texture
• Take two tall glasses and pour the mango smoothie in each up to ¾ level
• Top it off with the matcha smoothie and serve!
